FALL CLASSES

SUNDAYS @ 6 PM

1 Corinthians (continued) | Mark Newby
September 6

Seven Sayings from the Cross | Jeremy Weekley
September 13-October 11

Live on Facebook, YouTube and the church website.

In this study we will continue the study we began earlier this year of the statements that Jesus makes while He is being crucified. Many of the statements are human in nature, but have greater spiritual significance. This study will help us better appreciate the magnitude of those hours that Jesus spent on the cross being the sacrifice that makes reconciliation with the Father possible.

WEDNESDAYS @ 7 PM

The Visions of Daniel | Jeremy Weekley
September 16-November 18

Live on Facebook, YouTube and the church website.

We are familiar with the first six chapters of Daniel, but what about the last six chapters? The last half of Daniel is full of vivid images of beasts, kings, kingdoms, persecution, etc. that give the reader pause. In this study we will examine just what Daniel's visions represent and their significance to those living in exile, first century Christians, and for us today.

1 & 2 Thessalonians | Brian Johnson

Only available live on Zoom as a participation class.

The church at Thessalonica was founded by Paul and his co-workers, Timothy and Silas, during the so-called Second Missionary Journey in AD 50. It seems that Paul had at least three purposes in mind when he wrote 1 Thessalonians. First, to encourage the Christians, second, to correct misinformation, and third, to give additional instruction that would contribute to the Thessalonians' growth. First and Second Thessalonians are among the earliest documents we possess from the inception of the New Testament church. Only James and Galatians were written earlier. Despite a two-millennia gap, these letters ring with relevance for today.
